PROFILE

Currently an undergraduate at the UMNTC studying computer science with experience in web development. With my 2+ years of coding experience, I am successful at creating projects of my own as a hobby to better understand concepts for future roles. I also have superb experience with customer service and management from previous positions which further enhances my strategic problem solving skills. My goal for now is to branch out my portfolio and find possible related work that may aid in areas such as customer service, graphic design, website/social media management, and everything in between.
